

Company backgrounder: Tourmaline

Tourmaline Oil Corp. (Tourmaline) is Canada's largest and most active natural gas producer. Since commencing operations in 2008, Tourmaline has grown to an investment-grade exploration and production company that provides strong and predictable operating and financial performance through the development of three core areas in the Western Canadian Sedimentary Basin.

Producing reliable, affordable, and abundant natural gas, Tourmaline meets the world's current and future energy needs with an ongoing commitment to innovation.

In its pursuit to become one of the largest natural gas producers in North America, Tourmaline has an extensive undeveloped land position, multi-year drilling inventory and operating control of natural gas processing and transportation infrastructure.

Tourmaline's responsible development is led by a highly skilled senior management team. It focuses on sustainable growth and full cycle returns on invested capital.
